Tip 10: Familiarize Yourself with the Work of All Team Members

Scrum Master

Product owner

Development team
- Scrum fosters collaboration among the participants

- Collaboration becomes easier when everyone knows what the other person ought to be doing

Your main role is to ensure they know and effectively implement scrum rules and principles

- You and the product owner should work towards a common goal
- You should move yourself into a position where giving and receiving assistance is not difficult

- Ask about the work s/he does at the beginning

- Indicate you are offering your support and expect it in return

In Summary

- Get to know the duties of the product owner; this will ease your collaborative efforts

- Showing interest in individual team member's work shows you are committed to the smooth running of the project

- Offer support to everyone in the scrum team; this will create a general good work ethos

In Summary

- Get to know the duties of the product owner; this will ease your collaborative efforts

- Showing interest in individual team member's work shows you are committed to the smooth running of the project

- Offer support to everyone in the scrum team; this will create a general good work ethos